Your voice and participation are vital in the work of hiring a new pastor to lead FPC Granbury. Please consider the following prompts when responding via congregational meeting, email submission, or chat with a Mission Study Committee member.

Who Are We? (John 15:1-17)

Like every church, FPC Granbury has its own identity. This identity comes from our history, membership, leadership, and relationship with our community and beyond.

What are some of the ways our church defines itself? What do you see as the strengths of our church? In what ways do specific activities or programs you may be involved show the community who we are? Is this the image we want to promote of ourselves within the community?

or April 23rd following service.

All meetings in Fellowship Hall.

Who Are We Called To Be? (Romans 12:9-21)

The calling of a new minister provides the opportunity to look not only at where we've been, but also where God is leading us. Covid shutdown and its effects, growth in our community, and changes in the needs of our congregation can affect our church's ministries and programs.

Are there needs within our congregation or community that FPC Granbury should address? Are there any specific issues that you feel God is calling us to address? If this congregation is to thrive (and not just survive), what programs should we bolster? Eliminate? Create?

Where is God Calling Us To Go? (Matthew 28:16-20)

Matthew 28:16-20 concludes with Jesus telling his disciples to "remember, I am with you always, to the end of the age."

With God's help, what possibilities do you see in our church? What message would you give to a new minister about what our church could become with his or her help?
